ACRL OREGON CHAPTER NEWSLETTER, no. 11, Oct. 25, 1977
(an irregular publication)

There will be a program and meeting of the ACRL Oregon Chapter on Friday, Nov. 18, at 2:00 pm at Oregon College of Education, Monmouth, in the Willamette Room of the College Center. Richard Surles, Law Librarian at the University of Oregon, will be the speaker. His topic is:

The new copyright law in the library. What librarians can continue to do. What library practices are in a legal limbo. What has been definitely outlawed.

We expect that Mr. Surles will also say something about how to handle inquiries from the public, especially teachers, on what is allowed under the law.

Richard Surles has made a special study of the new copyright law and is advising the Council of Librarians of the Oregon State System of Higher Education on implementing the new law. He also has lectured on the topic to the University of Oregon Law School.

BUSINESS MEETING. There will be a short business meeting to elect a chairperson for the coming year. Nominations can be made at the meeting. (Richard Heinzkill will not be standing for re-election.)

BOARD MEETS. On Oct. 20, 1977, the ACRL Oregon Chapter Advisory Board met at Oregon State University to discuss program ideas for the coming year as well as other business. Those attending were: Fr. Joseph Brown, Robert Gault, Tom Gerity, Richard Heinzkill, Didi Malarkey and Doris Tilles.

FREE DIVISION FOR 1978. If you are not a member of the American Library Association as of July 31, 1977, you may join both ALA and ACRL for the price of the ALA dues alone, $35. Usually ACRL membership is $15 in addition to the ALA dues. Your dues include subscription to American Libraries, College and Research Libraries, and College and Research Libraries News.
